What is the concept of period underwear?

Although it looks like standard underwear, period underwear is equipped with an absorbent area that, like an integrated sanitary pad, wicks moisture away from the surface. This absorbent zone is almost invisible, with no apparent bump nor uncomfortable wings, ensuring the pad's presence goes unnoticed. Our period underwear absorbs blood, eliminates bad odors, and protects sensitive skin.

The thought of giving up sanitary pads, tampons, or menstrual cups might seem unthinkable if you've never tried period underwear but let us reassure you! Period underwear is perfectly hygienic and is crafted from materials with antimicrobial and breathable properties to prevent odors.

Finding the period underwear that suits you is key. You just need to choose the right underwear based on your needs and the heaviness of your flow. Period underwear can serve as the primary protection or as an addition to a tampon or cup for very heavy flows, and simply if you're worried about leaks. It's also worth noting that period underwear is just as useful for urinary leaks, vaginal discharge, vaginal infections, the postpartum period, and... periods! They are designed for all levels of flow, incorporating several layers of fabric: cotton that wicks away moisture, a lining that neutralizes odors, super absorbent material, and a leak-proof barrier.

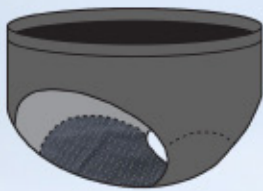

Period underwear is washable and reusable underwear designed to replace pads and tampons, offering a wonderful eco-friendly solution! According to various studies and estimates, millions or even billions of sanitary pads are thrown away each year in landfills around the world. Given that sanitary pads are often used monthly by many individuals, their accumulation in landfills can be substantial. This underscores the importance of promoting sustainable and environmentally friendly alternatives, such as reusable menstrual underwear or menstrual cups, to reduce the environmental impact of menstrual products. Contribute to the well-being of the planet while enjoying optimal comfort, thanks to a soft and silky texture made of 77% nylon and 23% spandex.

They are easy to maintain!

Proceed with a simple little pre-wash before putting your menstrual panties in the washing machine. To do this, just rinse your panties under cold water and wait for the water to become clear. You can then put them in the washing machine..

Protection that lasts all day! If you match your underwear well to your flow, you can have protection that lasts up to 12 hours!

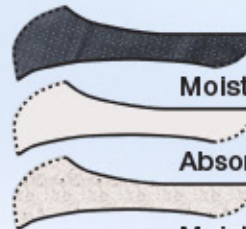

Psssst! Did you know over 120 municipalities even offer a subsidy for the purchase of sustainable menstrual products? Check with yours if they do!
